GLOBAL CHINA IN A RELIGIOUS WORLD

The conference is generously supported by Hong Kong RGC CRF project [C7052-18G] Infrastructures of Faith: Religious Mobilities on the Belt and Road (BRINFAITH)

BRINFAITH

Discussions on the rise of Global China, through the Belt and Road Initiative (BRI) and beyond, have focused on physical infrastructures, financial investments, commerce, and geopolitics. What about the religious dimension of China's deepening entanglements with the world? This international conference, composed of 3 sessions, will bring together scholars working on different regions and disciplines, to map out the contours of the religious dimensions and implications of Global China, through discussion of empirical studies and testing of different analytical frameworks.
